Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurYoung Victor Carl is a fool for love and money, but hes not a blind fool. When Victor is propositioned by the woman of his dreams, he knows its too good to be true. She offers him the perfect job, a prosperous future, and, best of all, when her tongue is in his mouth, she tastes like strawberries. But it isnt long before Victor realizes that to keep these prizes, he must keep his clientcurrently in the clink for murderfrom spilling the truth about what really happened the night of the killing. Is Victor ready to be bought? Hell yes. But not until he learns the truth. Someone is being protected, and Victor intends to find out whos worth all the fuss. Because Victor Carl is willing to sell his soul, sure, especially for a bite of strawberry, but only if the price is right.Prsentation de l'diteurYoung Victor Carl is a fool for love and money, but hes not a blind fool. Biographie de l'auteur William Lashner is the New York Times bestselling author of The Barkeep, The Accounting, Fatal Flaw, and eight other novels. He is also the creator of Victor Carl, whom Booklist called one of the mystery novels most compelling, most morally ambiguous characters. The eight Victor Carl novels have been translated into more than a dozen foreign languages. The ninth Victor Carl novel, Bagmen, will be released in 2014. Writing under the pseudonym of Tyler Knox, Lashner is the author of Kockroach, a New York Times Book Editors Choice described as roaringly entertaining by Publishers Weekly and as an energetic tour de force by USA Today. As Tyler Knox, he has also written a number of reviews for the Washington Post Book World. Lashner was a prosecutor with the Department of Justice in Washington, DC, before quitting the law to write full-time. A graduate of New York University School of Law, as well as the Iowa Writers Workshop, he lives with his wife, his three children, and his dog, Chase Muttley, outside Philadelphia.
